Performance Plus™

PERFORMANCE HARDWOOD

Superior Durability for Real Life

Engineered to stand up to the busiest homes. A superior choice for dent and scratch resistance, Performance Plus is up to 2x harder than traditional hardwood. By filling in gaps in the wood cells with acrylic, soft species like Cherry and Birch become harder than Oak. Topped with our Lifetime Finish, Performance Plus is strong enough to resist scratches without clouding the beauty of the hardwood underneath. For a floor that's tough inside and out – choose Performance Plus™.

Up to 2X Harder than Traditional Hardwood

This chart compares the hardness of wood as measured by the industry standard Janka test. The higher the number, the harder the wood. With Performance Plus™ floors, even naturally softer species are hard enough for high traffic spaces.

Shopping for Hardwood Floors

When it comes to adding warmth and elegance to a room, nothing beats the beauty of a genuine hardwood floor. Finding the perfect hardwood floor for your style and lifestyle needs is made easier by understanding the various decisions you will make during the purchase process.

SOLID HARDWOOD

SECOND	✓
FIRST	✓
BASEMENT	✗

Organic, authentic, beautiful – solid hardwood is the coveted choice in flooring. A timeless option that coordinates with many styles, solid hardwood floors provide performance and durability that lasts a lifetime, with the flexibility to always remain in style and on trend. Often imitated, never duplicated, Armstrong® Flooring solid hardwood floors are proudly made in the USA with domestically sourced lumber, a naturally sustainable resource.

ENGINEERED HARDWOOD

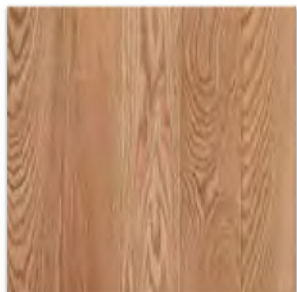

SECOND	✓
BASEMENT	✓

Engineered wood flooring is constructed from multiple plies of wood with a hardwood top layer. Below the top layer, cross layers of plywood are pressed to create a strong, stable core that is further reinforced by a layer of hardwood backing on the bottom. This multi-ply structure traditionally gives engineered wood the flexibility to be installed in basements, over concrete subfloors and over radiant heating systems.

Species

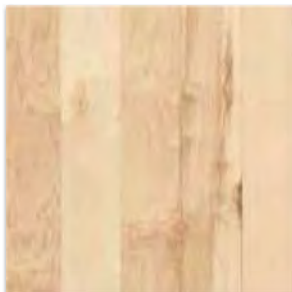

Armstrong Flooring offers a wide selection of wood species. The natural wood characteristics of each species offer a variety of stylish options to suit your individual needs.

Naturally durable and good choices for active homes, Oak, Maple and Hickory are widely available and therefore typically more affordable.

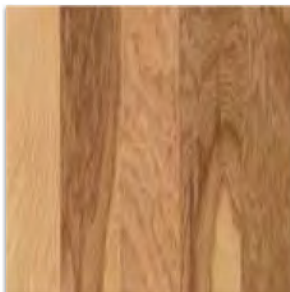

OAK

America's most popular species, Oak has a pronounced grain that is instantly recognizable.

MAPLE

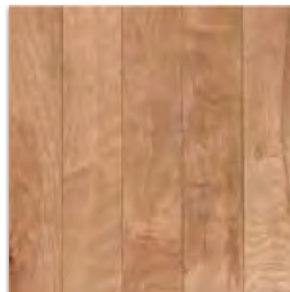

Clean, understated graining and even coloring makes for an elegant canvas.

HICKORY

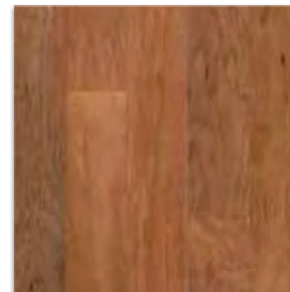

Straight and wavy graining combine with extensive color variation for a bold, rustic look.

Birch, Cherry and Walnut are softer woods that are less widely available, making for a more unique visual.

BIRCH

This naturally pale yellow-blonde wood features a fine, curly grain and even color.

CHERRY

Fine, smooth grain with a naturally pink or red tone, cherry darkens with age for added richness.

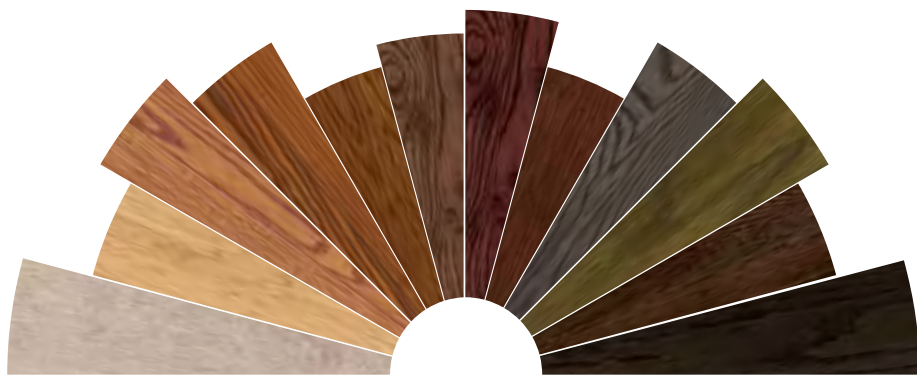

WALNUT

Boldly grained with color ranging from light tan to chocolate brown, highly varied and unique.

Color

Armstrong Flooring offers the most color choices in hardwood. Staining reduces natural color variations and makes a full range of colors possible.

Natural hardwood boards vary in color from board-to-board. This variation is part of the beauty of wood flooring. To determine the amount of variation in a particular product, reference the Board-to-Board Color Variation indicator at armstrongflooring.com or on the sample board.

Gloss

The luster of your hardwood floor is a reflection of your personal style.

HIGH GLOSS

For a piano finish that reflects an abundance of light, a high gloss floor presents high-end beauty.

MEDIUM GLOSS

An excellent choice for a modern, sophisticated look that shows less scuffs than high gloss.

LOW GLOSS

For a natural, casual elegance, a low gloss floor also shows less wear over time.

Character and Grade

The natural character of hardwood can vary from product to product. Some collections and species feature high color and character variation – each plank is unique in the type and amount of character featured. More rustic grades of wood mean the following natural characteristics can be expected: Filled Knots, Filled Splits, Large Mineral Streaks and High Color Variation.

ABUNDANT CHARACTER

MINIMAL CHARACTER

Width

Highlight the features of your space and express your personal style by selecting an ideal width for your new floor.

NARROW

The best choice for the most traditional looks in hardwood today.

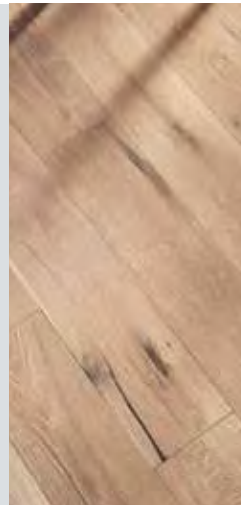

- Greater structural stability
- Traditionally lower in cost
- Creates the illusion of a more open space in smaller rooms
- More boards to install than with a wider width

WIDE

Fashion-forward and growing in popularity, wide plank floors create an upscale look.

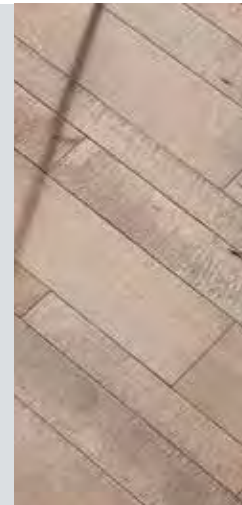

- Showcases the natural beauty of the grain
- Brings a cozier feel to large, expansive rooms
- Traditionally higher in cost than narrow strips and planks

MIXED WIDTH

Invite a unique look with mixed width planks that create interest.

- Reflects a vintage style reminiscent of early-American craftsmanship
- Vary the installation pattern to create a custom look

Edge Detail

The emphasis on the definition of each board changes depending on the type of edge detail featured.

MICRO-BEVELED EDGES AND ENDS

For subtle definition at edges and ends – the most popular look today.

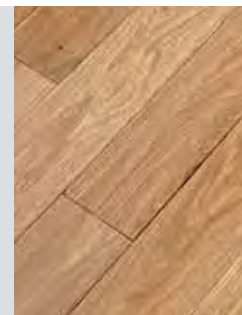

SQUARE EDGES AND ENDS

For a seamless, site-finished look.

SCRAPED EDGES AND ENDS

For a more rustic look that emphasizes individual planks.

Hardness

Some species of wood are naturally harder than others, and thus more resistant to dents, dings and natural signs of wear.

Harder species, like Oak, Maple and Hickory can be a better choice for busy rooms and active homes, especially for those who prefer less aged character.

The hardness of a species can be increased by adding acrylic to the wood – like in Armstrong Flooring’s unique Performance Plus™ hardwood – up to 2X harder than traditional hardwood.

Quality

For more than a century, the Armstrong brand has been known and trusted the world over for consistent quality, innovative design and satisfied customers.

- Award-winning Armstrong Flooring colors are consistent. Whether you install in multiple rooms or add on to your floor in the future you can count on consistent quality.
- Our milling processes produce straighter, flatter boards that fit together more precisely with fewer gaps between boards.
- Our finishing system achieves the perfect balance between revealing the beauty of hardwood and protecting it from wear.
- Lower grade mill run seconds used by some competitors have a 15% waste factor. Armstrong Flooring Premium grade floors have a waste factor of less than 5%.

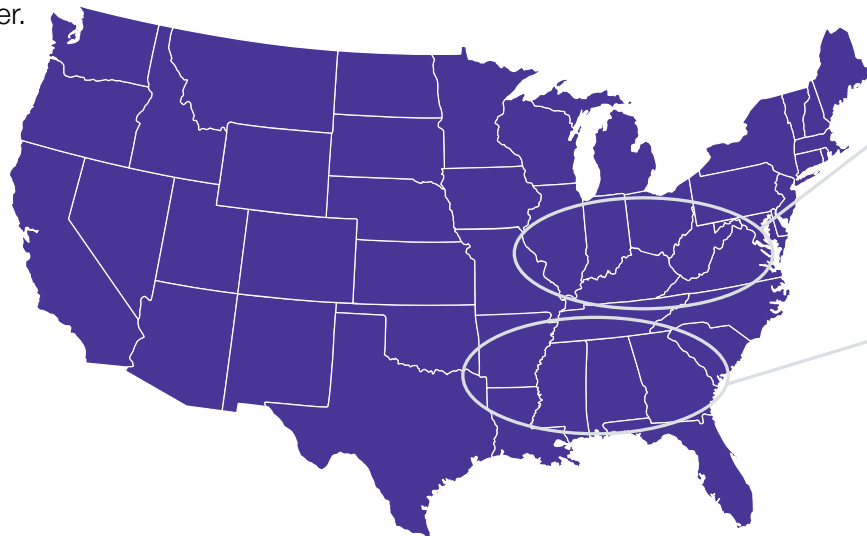

Premium 100% Solid Hardwood

Often imitated, never duplicated, all Armstrong Flooring solid hardwood floors are proudly made in the USA with domestically sourced lumber, a naturally sustainable resource.

WHERE HARDWOOD IS GROWN MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Not only are all Armstrong Flooring solid hardwood floors made in the USA, but they're all made with premium Appalachian lumber. Cold weather in the Appalachian region slows the growth of the hardwood, resulting in a floor with tighter, more consistent graining and fewer color variations than hardwood sourced from other regions.

The green logo, seen below and on all solid hardwood pages throughout this brochure, certifies Armstrong Flooring as an official Appalachian Hardwood Lumber Consumer.

APPALACHIAN

SOUTHERN

Competitor's primary source for wood
